Directed by Killen's Bob Thomas, the 45-member symphony will also play Samuel Barber's "First Essay for Orchestra" and Robert Shumann's "Symphony No. 1, Spring."

Tickets are $2 for adults and 75 cents for students. Proceeds are for orchestra expenses and sustaining funds for a permanent Central Texas Symphony.

Initial employment figures are estimated to be about 125, Wells told The Herald.

The firm has discussed in prior discussions with CIF, Inc., officials the ultimate employment of 200 or more here. And the prospect of even greater employment of women in sewing production, supervisory and clerical posts follows.

NO ADDITIONAL CANDIDATES IN CITY HALL

The City Council Tuesday night approved ordinances defining costs in a new electrical inspection code and city limits approved in 1956.

Councilmen also approved an order of election calling the Tuesday, April 2 annual city election in which the posts of mayor and two councilmen are voted.

No new candidates had filed in the mayor's race between incumbent Mayor Bassel Wilson and E. A. Perrin, a civic leader here.

Incumbents R. W. Wells and Lester Turner remain unopposed. Filing deadline for city office is 30 days prior to the April 2 election.

The new electrical inspection fee schedule ranges from a 10-cent fee for each additional electrical outlet (over 10) to a $10 fee for over 400-amp permit.

ELECTRIC CODE
The electrical code in Cameron has undergone considerable change in the past few months. The inspection schedule is the latest development.

City Secretary Buddy Fuller said the Council acted to include the city limits defined in 1956. No record could be found of the Council of that time officially noting the city limits, since shown on all city maps.

The Council in a called meeting Friday night voted unanimously to allow temporary use of the City Airport plane building for an industrial prospect until a permanent location is established. It is now vacant.

Tuesday, routine reports showed that Water Dept. personnel installed 100 feet of six-inch sewer pipe and a four-inch sewer connection at 14th St. and Burns.

DRAINAGE PIPE
Street Supt. J. B. Earle noted installation of corrugated metal pipe for drainage at West Ninth St. and Southern Pacific Railroad.

And he noted installation of an 18-inch reinforced concrete pipe under West Eighth St.

Earle also sought Council approval to buy a self-propelled mower.

Main projected work during rainy weather is asphalt patching.

Gunshot Victim Lies Critical In Waco Hospital

Hugo Fuessell, 46, was in critical condition late Wednesday at Hillcrest Hospital in Waco of a gun shot wound in the head. He was transferred from Scott and White Hospital to Waco Wednesday morning for neuro-surgery.

Fuessell was discovered about 9:15 a.m. in the cab of his pickup truck by a neighbor, Jim Majors and one of his farm workers. He was parked at FM 485 on a gravel road that leads to his house, about two miles away.

Milam County Sheriff Carl Black said Fuessell, who lived alone in a secluded section, apparently drove to the paved road, parked at the side and shot himself through the head. His 22 gauge rifle was beside him in the truck.

Sheriff Black said he was notified of the shooting by Mrs. Anton Moraw about 9:30 a.m. He said the victim was alive when he arrived, but in critical condition.

Green ambulance took him to Newton Memorial Hospital and then to Scott and White Hospital in Temple.

Fuessell was originally from the Buckholts community. He had lived at Splawn, south of Ben Arnold, for about five years, according to neighbors. He farmed on the Bill Crenan property.

Evening Lions Club Sets Dinner Meeting

A dinner meeting to officially organize and charter the new Evening Lions Club will be at 6:15 p.m. Thursday (tonight) at Gelner's Smokehouse.

Plans for the meeting are to acquaint new members and prospective members with Lionism and all interested men are invited to attend.

So you like finer things.

One of them coming Milam County's way is the March 14 appearance of the Central Texas Symphony and the dual piano virtuosity of Adel and Louis Galanffy, of Killen's new Central Texas College.

Oh, that's longhair music. Yes, but its hair is no longer than the hair of the "Beatles", "Rolling Stones" and "The Association" whose music's fascination is a beat.

The Galanffys, whose homeland was Hungary, are staff artists at the new college. They have appeared in New York's Carnegie Hall and in another 100 concert appearances through Community Concert Series in prior years.

They are contributing their efforts for a concert tour by the Central Texas Symphony, which first visited here in 1966 and saw a standing room only audience.

The Galanffys are bringing Bach and Mozart to the National Guard Armory, accompanied by the symphony. The Symphony, directed by the Killen college's Bob Thomas, is bringing Shumann and Samuel Barber compositions.

The orchestra, in rehearsal for two months now, is sharing these difficult compositions. Rev. and Mrs. Wirt Skinner, of Cameron, are playing trombone and bassoon in the orchestra. The conductor flew his plane to Dallas to rent the bassoon. That's how serious he is about this fine, serious music.

Towns this size seldom see symphony orchestras. Cameron and Rockdale are joining in this effort to bring a large turnout to an enthusiastic young orchestra deserving of support.

Cameron Delphian Club has consented to sponsor the appearance, complete with reception. Another civic club is considering helping with ticket sales.

This can be another community success. It can be an educational one for students and Scout groups, for instance, for adults who appreciate good music and for others curious about the working of a real symphony and fine professional pianists.

It is a chance for an evening of finer music and assistance in permanent establishment of one of the nation's few non-metropolitan orchestras.

Club House, Pool

Buckholts Center Possible

Plans for a Buckholts community center with picnic facilities, swimming pool and club house will be discussed at a kick-off dinner in the Buckholts School Gym at 7 p.m. Monday, February 26.

Dan Bentley, a representative of Texas Power & Light Co. will be guest speaker Monday night. Henry Ivey, administrator of the FHA office in Cameron, will also be a guest at the dinner.

Advance planning calls for a 5-acre lot with a 4,000 square foot building, a 20x40x60 foot swimming pool and adjoining wading pool, and outside picnic furniture. Mrs. Jimmy Hauk, secretary of the steering committee, said the location had not been selected, however they hoped to find land with shade trees that could be made suitable for picnic facilities.

She said all of the advance planning had been in the form of guidelines to suggest to future members. These include a clubhouse with kitchen and large room that can be divided by a folding door. Rest rooms would combine with dressing rooms to serve the swimming pool area. A prefabricated building with central air conditioning and central heat has been suggested for the center.

Mrs. Hauk said the community center could be ready for use this summer if enough interest is shown and memberships subscribed. Goal for the center will probably be 100 family memberships paying $36 per family annual dues. Financing would be through the federal Rural Improvement program.

"We hope that area residents will come to the dinner Monday and learn just what the community center can offer Buckholts," Mrs. Hauk said.

Members of the steering committee which has been working on plans since October are: Rev. Glenn Moehring, chairman, Vernon Dungan, A. W. Zajicek, Jr., Leon Brady and Mrs. Hauk.

Mr. Culpepper was born February 20, 1898 in Poplarville, Mississippi. He was a veteran of World War I.

Marinate Chicken For New Flavor

By Christine Laws

Planning your cookery ahead? Be sure to include chicken in these future plans. This high - in - protein food fits well into a cook-ahead and freeze routine -- just right for this busy season of the year. It's perfect for both planned and emergency meals.

Fried chicken, for example, can be fried, cooled, frozen and served within the week as either a cold or hot treat.

Chicken is great when marinated too. These marinades are usually oil and acid solutions used to flavor foods.

Length of time to marinate depends on the degree of flavoring desired. It may be as short as one hour or as long as 24 hours. You should keep the chicken refrigerated and turn frequently if marinated longer than 3 hours. The marinade frequently is used as a basting sauce for broiling or barbecuing. It can be served as a sauce over the cooked food.

TASTY MARINADES

Try some of these tasty marinades. Steep red pepper in vinegar for about 10 minutes. Then cool and pour over disjointed chicken. Turn chicken frequently so all sides will be equally seasoned. Marinate at least three hours for slightly accented fare -- overnight for a zesty flavor. Remove chicken from marinade and wipe off excess moisture. Pan-fry to tenderness in hot fat. Or broil in the oven or barbecue outside, using the marinade as a basting sauce, but first remove the hot peppers.

Marinate chicken in tart spicy juices of peach or watermelon pickles. Pour remaining marinade over cooked chicken just before serving. Serve chicken with spiced whole peach garnish.

For barbecue sauces, you may use either a commercial type or one of your own. Barbecue sauces may be used for basting during cooking, and also served with cooked chicken for dipping.

French dressing makes a tasty marinade. So does any combination of oil and vinegar with spices: oil, vinegar and lime juice; and oil, vinegar and lemon juice. Serve cooked chicken with wedges of fresh lemon.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing service reports plentiful supplies of broilers on the market now. These are young, tender chickens suitable for just about any cooking method.

FLANK STEAK

A boneless steak with very little fat, flank steak is definitely a less tender cut of meat and should be braised -- that is, cooked with moist heat -- regardless of USDA grade unless it is marinated and sliced very thin when served.

The flank steak will have a well-developed flavor. It makes excellent "Swiss" steak. In buying a flank steak, allow 6 to 8 ounces per person. Many restaurants list flank steak on their menus as "London Broil".

CUBED EGGS A POSSIBILITY

Homemakers may some day be serving cubed eggs to their families. Researchers have learned they can improve upon nature's natural egg shell packaging. Food technologists can freeze shelled eggs into cubes, wrap them in plastic, and do away with much of the present lack of appeal and cost of handling shell eggs.

RAMSEY, CRYER VOWS READ AT BRIDE'S HOME

Wedding vows for Miss Catherine L. Cryer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cryer, Jr. of Hico, Texas, and Dennis Scott Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ramsey of El Centro, California, were read recently in the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. Hubert Taylor, pastor of Hico First Methodist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the immediate families and friends.

The nuptial area was decorated with arrangements of yellow and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length dress of gold wool, complimented by black accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Brenda Hicks of Gordon, a college classmate of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was attired in a frock of blue and chose white accessories.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Ronnie Lowrance of Iredell.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Hico High School, and is a student at Tarleton State College. Mr. Ramsey graduated from high school in California and attended college there.

Following a short wedding trip the couple are at home in Stephenville where Mrs. Ramsey will continue her studies at Tarleton State College, and Mr. Ramsey will commute to Fort Worth to his job at General Dynamics.

Relatives from out of town attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ramsey Sr., the bridegroom's grandparents of Iredell; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Koch of Rockdale, the bride's grandparents; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rains, Denise and Matt of Austin; Mrs. David Miller, Janet and Randy; and Mrs. Wendell Cryer and Glen Ray of Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cryer, Sr. of Cameron are grandparents of the bride.

Living Costs Rise More Than Income

By Christine Laws

Incomes are rising, but not as fast as living costs and prices march relentlessly upward. The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that purchasing power has dropped since a year ago because living costs had risen more than incomes.

For a city family of four, living costs have gone up more than 50 percent since 1959, according to the BLS. The agency says it now takes $9,191 to maintain "a moderate living standard for a well established family of four" in city areas of the United States as of last fall.

This average included at income of $9,028 in large metropolitan areas and $8,366 in smaller cities.

Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension home management specialist, said that two of the cheapest places in the United States to live are Austin and Houston, at $8,028 and $9,387 respectively. All southern cities were below average except Washington, D.C. Housing costs account for most of the differences.

Compare your expense pattern with the U.S. average for a city worker's family of four. Here are the averages:

Housing 24.1 percent; food 23.3 percent; personal taxes 11.8 percent; clothing and personal care 10.6 percent; transportation 8.9 percent; medical care 5.1 percent; social security and disability payments 3.1 percent; gifts and contributions 2.8 percent; personal life insurance 1.7 percent; occupational expenses .9 percent; and other expenses 7.8 percent.

FOOD PRICES

Higher prices may be noted this week on some fruit and vegetable items in the market, but those in greatest supply include juice oranges, grapefruit, apples, bananas, potatoes, cabbage, head lettuce, carrots, hard shell squash, sweet potatoes, and dry yellow onions.

SPACE AGE FASHIONS

The soaring spirit of the Space Age is reflected in the designs of the Texas Fashion Creators, whose spring collections are modern and up to the minute. They spotlighted colors called the "Cool Space Blues" in their spring collections. Shades range from midnight navy to delicate sky blue.

As for the most notable Texas designs for spring '68, they include the tunic and the cape, two fashions with a modern space age look. Fabrics favored by the Texans also reflect the influence of the Space Age. Designers take a lesson in the geometry of space, with patterns that lean to squares and stripes, plaids and checks. For after-five, styles go into orbit with weightless sheers like voile and crisp organdy.

Outdoors In Texas—

By Vern Sanford
Every year you see some hunter who shoots at high-flying geese—far out of range. Or a person who misses a big deer because he undershot or overshot. Or a hunter who wastes ammunition at doves that are beyond the range of his shotgun.

Ability to judge distances properly can make a vast difference in your skill as a hunter. If you can size up a situation closely and know when to shoot or hold your fire, you'll be spared much of the disappointments of shooting at out-of-range targets which you have no chance of hitting.

More important, you'll cut down the chance of crippling game.
In places where long-distance shots are common, such as the Trans-Pecos region of Texas or maybe the mountains of Colorado, it is amazing how far off some people's estimate of range can be. When actually paced off, many a 300-yard rifle shot turns out to have been closer to half that distance, or perhaps much farther away.

Put your estimates of various distances to actual tests under conditions where they can be checked and you might be surprised how wrong you are. Pick out lamp posts, street corners, window ledges, trees or other objects. Estimate the distance to them, then step it off. See how near you come to being correct.
Practice in estimating distance, before you hunt, will be a big help to you in the field.
For the shotgun enthusiast, skeet shooting or practice with a hand trap can be an invaluable aid. Distances are known in skeet, but they vary from station to station as do the leads required. In time, you'll soon become proficient at judging both.

With the hand trap, place stakes at varying distances—say 20, 25, 30 and 40 yards. Watch the targets carefully as they sail over them. A quail is about the same size as a clay target. A pheasant or duck is quite a bit larger.

In rifle hunting, proper range estimate is vital to the correct sight picture. For a rifle sighted in at 100 yards, the points at which you should hold on an animal, whether you're using a scope or open sights, can easily be determined if you know how far away he is.

With a shotgun, the lead situation changes radically as range increases. If your estimates are way off, you're doomed to failure before you start.

Rug Or Carpet Problems? Housing Specialist Offers Hints

COLLEGE STATION
If you have small irritating problems with your carpet, these suggestions from Bonny Lay, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, may help.

If you have noticed signs of moths and carpet beetles on your wool or wool blend carpet or rug, you may spray around the edges of the carpet with a water base insecticide. Good daily or regular cleaning with air and light in hidden places usually is effective. All manufacturers who are members of the American Carpet Institute permanently mothproof rugs and carpets.

To make the pile which has been crushed down by furniture stand up use a steam iron on the spot or a dry iron over a damp cloth being careful not to press down on the iron. Then brush the crushed pile.

Sometimes one tuft rises above the others. Do not pull it up, but simply cut it off even with the other tufts with scissors, says Miss Lay.

During excessively damp weather size of your carpet may increase slightly with temporary moisture. It will probably disappear with dryer conditions, but if not a carpet layer can solve the problem by restretching the carpet installation.

Often static electricity, created by the friction of walking across a carpet or rug, is felt when one touches a metallic object. One way to reduce this problem is by adding moisture to the air or by applying an anti-static chemical to the carpet.

In new rugs and carpets, fluff material appears on the surface. This is usually loose pile left by the manufacturer. The Texas A&M University specialist pointed to another problem. The problem ends after all the loose ends have come to the top.

VOWS READ FOR MR. ZIMMERMAN, MISS CHARLOTTE ANN McFARLAND

Miss Charlotte Ann McFarland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. McFarland of Cameron and Henry P. Zimmerman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Zimmerman Sr. of Burrell, were united in marriage February 10 at the First Baptist Church in Cameron. Rev. Harrison McLerran performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. C. W. Bradbury, organist and Mrs. Sara Johnson of Austin, soloist, provided the nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a formal empire gown of silk organza over satin with a bateau neckline. Appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace enhanced the A-shaped skirt and train. A crown of small lilies of the valley trimmed with organza and pearls held her shoulder length veil of illusion. Her bouquet was of carnations and a white orchid, trimmed with English ivy and streamers of ribbon and pearls.

Miss Sharon Bode of Austin was maid of honor and Miss Sammie Lou Talley of Temple was bridesmaid. Flower girl was Laura Brune of Austin, a niece of the groom. The bride's attendants wore empire gowns of turquoise.

Kent Johnson of Austin served as best man. Allen Brune Jr. of Austin was groomsman and ushers were Douglas McFarland, brother of the bride and Thomas Leonard, a cousin of the bride.

A reception was held in the church hall following the ceremony.

In the houseparty were Mrs. Mary Brune of Austin, Mrs. Donna McFarland, Miss Judy Scofield, Miss Sharon Darby, and Miss Inez Evans of Cameron and Mrs. Arlene Stripling of Houston.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

She's a lucky little girl. Though she's only five years old, she knows how to pray. It is perfectly natural for her to kneel by her mother's side at bedtime and "talk to God."

She has a head start over children who have never experienced this kind of communion. For there are many youngsters throughout our land who have never learned to pray, simply because no one has ever taught them. For that matter, she's ahead of a good many grown-ups, too!

No one, of course, is ever too old to learn how to pray. But those who learn young are fortunate, for constant prayer builds a faith that will sustain them all their lives. Give your child the gift of prayer by taking him to church, by enrolling him in church school, and by listening to his prayers at home, each and every night.

Signaling, Rivers Highlight Scout Program Themes

By Bill Storey
Signaling will be an important program item for Boy Scouts in this area during March as they put into practice the Morse or semaphore codes as a part of an emergency preparedness plan.
The monthly theme for younger Cub Scouts will be "Rivers of the World" so that the eight and nine year olds will learn more about rivers in this area or in other parts of the Nation or the world.
George Rogers, District Commissioner of Texas District, explains "Signaling requires concentration for Boy Scouts that tests the Scout's perseverance - an important aspect of character development."
The highlight of the month for Boy Scouts will be an outdoor troop mobilization and a lost person search that will give them an opportunity to practice signaling, use of the compass, first aid and other scouting skills.
Webelos Scouts, the 10 year old members of Cub Scout Packs, will work on the creative requirements of the Artist badge during March. Finished projects will be displayed at the monthly pack meeting, Rogers said.
High school age Explorers will have activities at their next meetings related to physical fitness and community service. Many of the scouts will also be conducting the fourth training session for the "Ready" emergency service program that covers water safety, Rogers said.

HIGH COST OF ACCIDENTS

Motor vehicle accidents in 1966 cost an estimated $10 billion. Of these accidents, most were collisions between motor vehicles, followed by noncollision in roadway, overturned or running off the roadway. Pedestrian accidents ranked third.
Feel worthless? Currently, chemicals in the human body are estimated at a value of $900. This value, once estimated at 98 cents, has risen because of the demand for nucleic acids and enzymes.

TP&L To Spend Over $65 Million

Texas Power & Light Company will spend $65,369,000 for the construction of new facilities in 1968, T. L. Austin, Jr., TP&L president, announced.

A major portion of the expense involves the construction of three generating units capable of producing more than 1½ million kilowatts of electricity. Austin said the new generating units will provide TP&L customers with ample electricity for the future.

The three units are to be located on Big Brown Creek near Fairfield in Freestone County, on Tradinghouse Creek near Waco and at the Valley Steam Electric Station near Savoy in North Texas.

He added that the 1968 construction budget is the largest in the company's 56-year history.

In addition to the power plant construction, the company also will build or improve other facilities at Mineral Wells, Lake Creek, Northwest Carrollton, Argyle, Cacinth, Gainesville, Forney, Payne, McKinney, Plano, Van Alstyne, Sandow, Lufkin, Mesquite, Palestine, Stephenville, Dublin, Comanche, Brownwood, Elm Mott, Bellmead, Terrell, Richardson and Tyler.

Austin noted also that on a nationwide basis, total generating capacity of the electric utility industry in the United States in 1967 reached an estimated 269 million kilowatts. This was an increase of 3.6 percent over the actual 1966 total of 247.7 million kilowatts.

In addition, Austin said that nationally, 1967 generating capability provided an estimated annual margin of reserve of about 20.7 percent over the estimated annual peak demand. The margin of reserve is maintained to insure adequate service and protection against emergencies.

Austin estimated that investor-owned electric power companies had invested a total of more than $7½ billion in electric plant and equipment at the end of 1967. Expenditures for new construction by these companies during the year were about $5.9 billion, or 10 percent of the total new construction expenditures by all American businesses.

Taxwise, the investor-owned electric power companies are expected to have a 1967 tax bill of $3.16 billion, about $113 million greater than their 1966 tax bill, he said.

He concluded that during 1968, investor-owned electric companies will install 21.1 million kilowatts of additional generating capacity. Nationally, 1968 electric power capability is expected to reach 319 million kilowatts, an 11.4 percent increase over the estimated 1967 total.

IRS Questions

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I was just billed $20 for not paying an estimated tax. Is this something new? It never happened to me before.

A — The requirements for filing estimated tax declarations and paying quarterly installments are not new. However, with the automatic data processing system, IRS can now check all returns to see whether taxpayers have made estimated tax payments when required to do so.

Penalties are imposed when a taxpayer does not make the quarterly payments of estimated tax required. To avoid these penalties in the future, check the requirements on the estimated tax when you file your return.

Q — Where can I get tax forms?

A — Most banks and post offices have copies of the tax forms and schedules most frequently used. Local offices of IRS also have these in stock or you can send a post card to your district director asking for the forms you need.

Q — My leg is in a cast and I have to take a cab to work. Is this deductible as a medical expense?

A — No. Transportation expenses to and from work are considered personal expenses and are not deductible. Transportation costs to the hospital or to a doctor for treatment of your leg are deductible as medical expenses, however. Check your Form 1040 instructions on how to handle these expenses.

Q — How can I be sure the person I pick to prepare my tax return is reliable?

A — Here are a few things to look for:

1. Avoid the man who "guarantees" you a refund.
2. Be on guard if he suggests that the refund be sent to his address.
3. Never sign a blank tax form.
4. Don't sign a form that has been prepared in pencil; the figures could be easily changed.
5. Ask the advisor to sign the return he has prepared. However, remember that even though someone helps you prepare your return, you are still legally responsible for every item on it.

Q — I made several payments on my son's mortgage last year. Can I deduct the part which went for interest and taxes?

A — Even if your son qualifies as your dependent, the law does not allow you any deduction for taxes and interest paid for someone else. Only if the mortgage was in your name, will any deduction be allowed. Then you may deduct the portion of the payment representing real estate taxes and interest when you itemize your deductions.

Q — I was out of a job for a month or so last year and collected state unemployment benefits. Do I declare them as income?

A — No, state unemployment benefits are not taxable and do not have to be reported as income.

Q — I send my ex-wife $150 a month to support our two children. Can I deduct these payments on my tax return?

A — If the $150 a month is clearly designated as child support, it is not deductible. But, alimony payments would be deductible by you.

Q — I lost the W-2 form I received from my summer job. What should I do?

A — Contact your employer and ask him for another copy.

Q — My niece is now living with me after graduating from college. Will this entitle me to use the head of household rates when I file my return?

A — Unless you are also entitled to claim your niece as a dependent, the fact that you maintained a household for her does not meet the law's requirements for using the head of household tax rates. The 1960 instruction booklet has more details on this provision of the law.

Q — I cashed in some U. S. Savings Bonds last year. How do I figure what I should report as interest on them?

A — Report as interest the difference between what you paid for the bonds, the issue price, and what you received when you turned them in. Some cash basis taxpayers elect to report the interest earned each year on their bonds rather than all at once when they redeem the bonds. Either way of reporting this interest income is acceptable.

Q — I had problems getting my refund last year. What should I do to avoid similar trouble this year?

A — File a complete, accurate return. If you do, the time it takes to issue your refund will be about five to six weeks. Major reasons for refund delays last year were incomplete returns. Over two million returns were received with a missing or an inaccurate social security number. Other common errors were failure to sign and failure to include W-2 statements.

Missing supplementary forms, such as those to claim the sick pay exclusion or a moving expense deduction, also delayed some refunds.

Civic Club Program

Gardening Without Tears

Mrs. John Sapp was hostess at her home and Mrs. Frank Schiller served as co-hostess when the Civic Garden Club met on Thursday. Refreshments were a pple dumplings served with coffee. The dining table was adorned with a center floral arrangement in red and white, using the valentine motif, and was designed by Mrs. Schiller.

Mrs. Cecil Biggs, a member of the Temple Garden Club, a Landscape Design Critic and a Master Flower Show judge was the guest speaker for the meeting and presented a program on easier maintenance of gardens, "Gardening Without Tears".

Mrs. Biggs emphasized the importance of selection of plants and shrubs in permanent plantings which do not require so much attention in pruning, spraying, etc. She named trees which are considered "dirty", that is, constantly dropping leaves, blossoms, pods and suggested instead to choose trees with small foliage that disappears or becomes imbedded in the lawn.

Paved, concrete or graveled areas in the garden are fast becoming popular since these help lessen areas which might otherwise need weeding and also add interest in the garden.

Mrs. Biggs suggested the use of varied bulbs and perennials in the garden since these will appear again another year and lessen the labor required to achieve beauty in the garden. The particular needs of the family were also considered as an important phase of the garden effort and its maintenance.

Mrs. J. A. Bowling, club president, conducted a short business session during which time, Mrs. Alvin L. Dusek, flower show chairman, discussed plans for the forthcoming placement show which the club will stage late in April.

A dinner meeting to evaluate and set up farm demonstrations was held last Tuesday night at Gerner's Smokehouse in Cameron, courtesy of Texas Power and Light Company, Henry Siebman, local TP&L office manager, Dan Bentley and Jerry Singleton, agriculturists, discussed the purposes of the B.I.G. program and its relation to county agricultural income.

Results of 1967 demonstrations were discussed by J. D. Moore, Milam County agent, Wilburn Beckhusen, Buckholts farmer and ginier and chairman of the county demonstration work, assisted in setting up the following demonstrations for 1968: grain sorghum and cotton variety test, fertilizer and trace mineral test, chemical weed and grass control in cotton, grain sorghum and coastal Bermuda grass. A cotton precision planting and chemical weed control demonstration will be held at Charles Henson's place in the Briary Community April 5. A County Crops Tour will be held in July.

Coleman Duncum, chairman of the county crops committee, pointed out the value of improved practices to increase agricultural income in the county. "In order to prosper, a person must live in a prosperous community. If you want to be poor, live in a poor community," said Duncum.

Others attending the meeting were Skip Hobbs, local Gulf Co. manager; Gene Klein, Hugo Aigner, Frank Kratochvil, Anton Moraw, Joe P. Mueck, Kenneth Hol-las, E. J. Provasek and John A. Smith.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

Normal yields have now been established on the peanut farms in the county. The county office is accepting and processing transfers of peanut allotment by way of lease, sale, or transfer by owner.

The owner and operator of any farm for which a peanut allotment has been established is eligible to file an application for sale or lease of all or any part of such allotment to any other owner or operator of a farm in the county.

Application for such transfer must be filed with the county office to be effective. Transfers by lease may be for any period of years up to 5 years as agreed upon by the interested parties.

The final date for filing applications for transfer of peanut allotments is April 1. Farmers intending to transfer peanut allotments are urged to file applications without delay.

Not more than 50 acres of peanut allotment may be transferred to a farm by sale or lease. However, this restriction is not applicable to transfers by owner.

Receiving farms need not have a peanut allotment to receive peanut acreage by sale, lease, or transfer by owner.

A peanut allotment may not be transferred from a farm subject to a mortgage or other lien unless the lienholder agrees to the transfer.

If the normal yield for the receiving farm exceeds the normal yield of the transferring farm by more than 10 percent, the allotment so transferred shall be reduced for differences in farm productivity.

In the event an allotment is transferred to a farm which at the time of such transfer is not irrigated, but within 5 years following such transfer is placed under irrigation, annual downward adjustment in the amount of the allotment shall be made by multiplying the established normal yield for the transferring farm by the transferred acreage and dividing the result by the actual yield for the receiving farm for previous year.

Wheat, Feed, Cotton

Farmers Union Urges Restraint

The nine-member Texas Farmers Union Executive Committee, meeting in Dallas Tuesday, adopted a resolution urging farmers to sign up in the wheat, feed grains and cotton programs during the sign-up period February 1 through March 15.

The committee of farmers representing the nine Farmers Union districts in Texas warned that "if better prices are to be achieved in 1968 for cotton, wheat and feed grains, it is vital that farmers use the programs which are designed to reduce the oversupply of these commodities and to strengthen prices."

"We are particularly concerned that Texas cotton farmers are being misled by trade-inspired propaganda intended to discourage them from taking full advantage of cotton program benefits. We are again cautioning the cotton farmers of Texas to exercise a high degree of caution and restraint before planning expansion of acreage."

"We challenge the textile mills and their representatives to offer contracts to cotton growers at parity prices to provide the economic incentive for more production rather than indulging in scare tactics in an effort to coerce more acreage."

Cotton Growers Expand Use Of Chemicals For Weed Control

COLLEGE STATION

The use of agricultural chemicals for grass and weed control is listed by Fred C. Elliott, Extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M University, as the most significant development in Texas cotton production over the past six years.

In a year-end report covering activities of the 7-Step Cotton Program, Elliott said pre-emergence chemicals were used last year to treat 1,396,681 acres while post-emergence chemicals were applied on another 768,278 acres. These chemicals were used, he said, on almost two-thirds of the state's harvested acreage.

In 1962, only 46,389 acres in the state were treated with pre-emergence chemicals and his question-naire which was answered by county agents did not carry a query on post-emergence chemicals.

Also in 1962, spot oiling and spot treatment for Johnsongrass control and lateral oiling for weed and grass control in cotton were applied to more than 660,000 acres. By 1967 this total had dropped to less than 300,000 acres, Elliott said, reflecting their replacement by more effective and easier to apply chemicals. But, perhaps more important, he said, is the ability of the newer chemicals to get the job done over much longer periods of time — that is control weeds and grass in cotton fields.

Another notable achievement over the six-year period was the increase in the number of Texas cotton producers who cooperated with county agents in carrying out recommendations of the statewide 7-step program, ranging from just over 44,000 in 1962 to just under 50,000 in 1967. Evidence, Elliott believes, that points up how the flexibility of the 7-step program has met the ever-changing needs of cotton producers for information.

Elliott said educational meetings have already been held in the areas of the state where cotton planting first gets underway and that growers are eager to get the latest information on every phase of cotton production and processing. He said they are optimistic about the future for cotton.

We Need 'Rural Renaissance' . . .

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman continues to plead for a "rural renaissance". He pleaded the same cause in a recent speech at Rosebud.

He has a major point.

The cities are of primary concern. By sheer numbers, city problems—from the garbage question of New York City to civil rights in Washington—are weighty enough to be weighed against our Vietnam involvement.

Secretary Freeman, and others, see the reason. This continuous migration for a generation has left a poverty in rural areas having little to do with race or productivity. We can say it is "tough", but for a continuous flow of unsophisticated, untrained people to the cities, particularly those in their 40's and 50's, we are paying with squalor and playing with disaster.

Cameron and Milam County, again among others, have worked hard at improving water systems, modernizing and improving schools. But until we are successful, as we shall be, in attracting job-creating industry, we contribute to this mounting problem.

Secretary Freeman addresses himself to the problem of major old cities. The problem is not so immense in Texas cities. They are new, by comparison, and booming with new industry from the north. But the time will come when Dallas and Houston and Fort Worth and San Antonio will have the grim statistics that cause a governor and mayor, as in New York, to risk whole political futures over an enormous heap of garbage.

Small cities, and rural counties, have to agree with Secretary Freeman.

We are not gaining by sending our untrained minorities to city complexity. We pay for city and federal attempts to solve such problems.

We are not gaining by sending all our young people to city complexity, regardless of their schooling. Their loss in future leadership and capacity can be irreplaceable.

We are not gaining by keeping our problems small and watching city problems grow large. They can sap every American by sheer cost.

We hope the Administration continues to listen to the Secretary. And we hope federal representatives from cities listen.

They have the votes in Austin and Washington. They can pour money into city solutions while the rural well, which seems obsolete at present, runs dry.

But country ambition built those cities for people, we might add, in which cities are less interested, almost daily, by sheer size of urban problems.

All are equal before the law. We can now tell this to the birds and they'd have to believe us.

A Philippine seagull was recently found shivering and near death in Osaka Bay in Japan. An airline took pity and flew it to Manila. But it was refused entry because it lacked the pro-

Back it was flown to Japan to be provided with documents, and then back once more to the Philippines. This time it was admitted.

Wonder how it signed its name?

Special Subcommittee Will Study Liquor Control Laws

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — State attention continues to center on the embattled Texas Liquor Control Board.

Speaker Ben Barnes appointed a special subcommittee from the House State Affairs Committee to study possible changes in the election laws. Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria, committee chairman, also heads the subcommittee. Other members are Reps. James Slider of Naples, Bill Clayton of Springlake, Cletus Davis of Houston and Roy Garwood of San Antonio.

Cory stressed that the committee will not investigate Board operations. It will look into the cumbersome liquor laws which have not been modernized since they were first adopted in 1935. Chairman Cory says the panel will be ready with its recommendations (which conceivably could include legalization of liquor by the drink sales) "whenever Governor Connally calls a special session of the Legislature."

LCB itself has drafted a set of recommendations which include the provision that no private clubs, veterans or fraternal organization can serve liquor over the bar in dry areas without local-option election approval.

A veteran lawmaker, O. N. (Newt) Humphreys Jr., was chosen by the Board to take the vacant job as assistant to Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. Humphreys, 43, is a native of Brenham. His father was chief of police there. The new LCB assistant chief has been with the Texas DPS since 1942 and for 11 years has been head of its intelligence division.

His selection led to speculation that the LCB might in a few months move Humphreys to administrator. But Stevenson said that he has no intention of resigning while the agency is under fire.

In a unique way, the LCB situation got involved in the governor's race. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith was critical of the decision by Barnes to name a special committee. Then Eugene Locke of Dallas, one of Smith's opponents in the Governor's race, said the liquor laws obviously need revision and that Smith should have provided leadership toward that end.

Gov. John Connally's declaration that state legislators have been involved in "influence peddling" efforts with Stevenson, and his refusal to grant special treatment kept his salary down, led to some checking.

A study of the appropriations laws for the past ten years shows that Stevenson's salary was generally held to about $4,000 less than those of comparable department heads. It was only last Sept. 1 that his salary was brought to within $1,000 of two other agency heads.

SPECIAL SESSION TALKS

With all the 1968 candidates now on the line and campaigns still in low gear, favorite capitol speculation is the date of the upcoming special legislative session.

Gov. Connally must call one in order to pass a 1969 budget and a new tax bill. This has to be done before September 1, start of the next fiscal year. Otherwise, there will be no money for continuation of state services.

Big question is when?

It has been widely assumed that Connally will wait until around June 3 when the primary elections are over.

Since the governor said that he may ask legislators to consider liquor by the drink legislation and conflict of interests curbs, speculation on the session's date has flared anew. It is felt that he may have an earlier date in mind, like maybe March 4. Senate Secretary Charles Schnabel "predicted" this starting time in a Valentine Day letter to senators. Later he said he wrote with "tongue in cheek" and wasn't really serious.

Arguments run something like this:

—FOR JUNE — Legislators won't vote for a big tax bill with elections staring them in the face, and will resent having campaigns interrupted. Early session would put friends as well as foes on the spot and might result in defeat of some. Lawmakers are reluctant to vote for tax measures until the last minute, anyway; and along about July and August, they can't put it off any longer.

—FOR MARCH — After their election lame duck legislators would be rebellious toward any tax program or other controversial measures submitted by the governor. More time might be needed to pass a major tax bill than would be allowed by a June session. New Democratic nominee for governor will be known by June, and the legislators may be inclined to look to him for leadership and ignore Connally's proposals.

Only man really in position to know is John Connally. He says he hasn't made up his mind — and might not for several weeks. But adds: "Any date is a possibility."

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Connally selected Consumer Credit Commissioner Francis A. Miskell as a member of state Constitutional Revision Commission.

Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, senate president pro tempore, has been designated state campaign manager for gubernatorial candidate John Hill.

William F. (Bill) Carter, press secretary to the governor, will return to his old job as DPS public information officer March 1.

James J. Kelly will serve as acting executive director of the Texas Industrial Commission.

Kyle Thompson, capital bureau head of United Press International, is handling press relations for gubernatorial candidate Eugene Locke.

COURTS SPEAK

Texas Supreme Court has held that: Cities should not license door-to-door insurance salesmen (in a case originating in Hillsboro.); City of Beaumont and its music commission are not responsible for injuries to a woman who fell while attempting to return to her seat at a concert in the city auditorium; Henderson County district court must consider a land vacancy claim; A jury trial must be held in an Amarillo man's suit against a railroad after the drives of a car in which he was a passenger crashed while trying to avoid hitting a train.

High court also agreed to hear arguments on March 27 in a San

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Since one of the problems of living on this Johnson grass farm out here or any other place in the country is what to do with your garbage, naturally I followed the garbage collection troubles of New York City, in the newspapers and on television.

If you haven't thought about it, you might suppose that garbage would be a minor problem in the country, but think about it a minute. Where would you put it? Start your own trash dump? Haul it to town? Let it stack up? Dig a hole and bury it every time the wastebasket is full?

It's sort of like Viet Nam. You didn't know there was a problem there until people started calling your attention to it, did you?

Therefore, I followed the New York situation closer than I would a good western and what I'd like to know is why can't we get a system like that going around here? I'm talking about the solution.

It's simple, as I understand it. All you do is stack your garbage outside your house and if the Mayor won't pick it up the Governor will.

Maybe at first nobody pays any from legally changing the name of their child.

Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the death penalty assessed 19-year-old Johnny Rudy Enriquez for murder of a Beeville nurse — one of five persons he was accused of slaying within six hours April 25, 1966. Trail of death extended from Corpus Christi, through Beeville and into Wilson County.

OIL DEMAND

Continued blockage of the Suez Canal and the TAP pipeline in the Middle East again has zoomed demand for Texas oil.

Railroad Commission increased February oil production allowable from 47 to 49.6 percent of potential, retroactive to Feb. 1.

Commission set March factor at the same level, responding to demand by producers.

New allowable will permit maximum production of 3,732,485 barrels a day, compared with 3,580,958 under 47 percent factor.

attention to it, but just keep stacking it up and sooner or later it'll get noticed. Sometimes politicians are said to be insensitive to the problems of the people, but it's not true when it comes to weeks-old garbage.

When I saw those television pictures of that New York garbage overflowing the sidewalks and piling up in the streets I said to myself, I don't have the answer to that problem but somebody's going to figure it out.

It's different in the country, though. Just this morning I was eyeing my trash can, wondering if I could get a little more packed into it, maybe round it over on top, or should I go ahead and call out the National Guard to empty it, wondering if I should wire the Governor or go over his head and contact the President.

I'll empty it myself in a day or so, I guess, but in the meantime it's gratifying to know that when it comes to garbage I'm up on the New York level. You can't beat sophistication.

Yours faithfully,

J.A.
